MINISTER SECOND SECOND

We would like to talk Fullmore Overcoats to you and about 999 other men to-day.

We never were so ready as we are right now.

They start at $12.50 and run up to $30.

The $18 line strikes most men as the swellest thing in town at the price. We're pretty proud of them ourselves.

MAN'S DEAD BODY PACKED IN BARREL.

Chicago Police Think Italian Ven detta Led to Murder of Labover From Iowa.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 5.—The discovery of the body of a man packed into a flour barrel and thrown upon a dump heap on a strip of prairie near Rice street and Western avenue has started the Chicago police to work on the theory that the murered man was the victim of an Italian vendetta.

The body has been identified as that of Antonio Napoli, an Italian, who lived here until a year ago, when he went to lowa Center la., from which place he returned here last night with twenty-five other laborers. One arrest has been made. Vinenz Dattoll, an Italian fruit peddler, being held on the strength of the name "Dattoli" being found upon a gunny sack in which the fend man's feet were tied when the body dead man's rect were their when the beging was discovered, in Dattoli's shop were found several barrels similar to the one into which the body had been packed. The barrel with its ghastly contents was found by workmen early this morning. The feet were securely tied in a gunny sack, the body was racked down until it was already. only was packed down until it was almost loubled, the head was almost cut off, and here was a deep gash across the face. Detectives declare that the murder was not committed where the body was found, but that the grewsome burden was taken to the spot in a wagon. The barrel had been secured at both ends, but in dumping t from the vehicle one of the heads had been knocked out. Had it not been for this accident the police think the attempt to conceal the crime would probably have been The place where the barrel was found has been used for years as a dumping ground. Twelve years ago it furnished another murder mystery which has never been cleared The victim of this old crime was Ame-

London, Nov. 5.—Lord Kitchener, in a report to the War Office under date of November 4, giving further details of the recent engagement near Brakenlangte, eastern Transvaal, between Colonel Benson's column and the Boers, says:

"The Boers were uname to remove the guns they captured until a British ambulance went out, when, under cover of the ambulance, the burghers carried them off. The Boer losses were undoubtedly heavy, but no correct estimate of them is obtainable. Opperman was killed and Chris Bothawas wounded. The Boers are reported to have behaved badly to the British wounded.

BELLEVILLE WANTS WATER FROM RIVER.

Well Product Not Sufficient to Satisfy Demand of Patrons of Present Plant.

L. D. Turner, lawyer and politician of Belleville, publicly announced yesterday that he was in favor of Belleville getting its water supply from the Mississippi River and that if such a plan was fermulated he would subscribe for $5,000 worth of the bonds of the concern and take chances on getting his money back. It is estimated that a project of this sort would cost a million dollars.

The water question for Belleville has been a vexing one for a couple of years. There is constant friction between the water com-pany and the people of the city. The water supply is taken from deep webs which are supposed to tap a subterraneau-river. The water is said to be the best in the country, but in times of drought the supply runs low, and the water company, although it has a large number of wells, all of which are supply runs low, and the water company, although it has a large number of wells, all of which are equipped with the latest improved water-hoisting apparatus, finds itself unable to meet the demands made by the city.

In the past the water of Lake Christine has been pumped through a separate set of mains to supply the manufacturing plants of Belleville. The last drought, however, dried up Lake Christine, and the water company has been forced to raise all of the water from the deep wells.

The proposition to get the water supply of Belleville from the Mississippi River is an old one, and one which is in great favor with many residents of Belleville. It is argued that it would not cost as much to lay pipes and equip a pumping plant and the necessary reservoirs as it cost to build the electric railreads between Belleville and East St. Louis, which are now paying investments. The right of way, it is said, could be secured for nothing, and might instead be made a source of profit, for it would enable the farmers along the line of the pipe to secure fresh water at all times and save them the expense of dirging wells and maintaining windmills. Mr. Turner suggests that if the company is organized the present water company franchise could be purchased from the company, together with the mains and wantender and could be purchased from the company, together with the mains and unanter and could be getter with the mains and unanter and could be getter with the mains and wanters are and unanter and the mains and wanters are suggested the present water company franchise could be purchased from the company, together with the mains and unanters are and unanters and and the main and the main and the main and the main and the could be purchased from the company. WERE DRAGGED BY STREET CAR. Mr. and Mrs. Davis Sectionally Injured

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Seriously lojured in a Collision.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davis of Swansea, a village adjoining Belleville, while driving yesterday afternoon, were struck by ear No. 6 of the Suburban electric line. They were thrown out and were injured, but it is believed that both will recover.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis were on their way to their home when the accident occurred. They were crossing Main street and did not see the car, which was moving at a fast rate of speed. The car struck the rig at the seat, smashing it to bits. Mr. and Mrs. Davis were thrown out and were dragged for fifty feet by the car before it was brought to a stop. They were carried to a near-by drug store, where their hijuries were attended to, after which they were removed to their home.

Persons who witnessed the accident declare that it was a miracle that the couple were not instantly killed.

ASKED FOR POLICE AID. Mrs. McLaughlin and Four Children Stranded in Alton.

A woman giving her name as Margaret McLaughlin and her home as Chicago applied to the Alton police yesterday for assistance for herself and her four small children. Mrs. McLaughlin stated that her husband was T. J. McLaughlin, commercial agent for the Oliver Typewriter Company at Chicago.

According to the woman's story she was in St. Louis and her husband sent her money to pay her way to Chicago. She failed to receive the money on time and came as far as Alton with a man named William Speak, who, she says, represented himself to be wealthy and willing to care for her and the children until she could procure funds to go to Chicago. The party went to Mrs. Webber's boarding-house on Belle street, where Speak guaranteed the beard for the woman and children until she could leave the city. Monday, however, Speak disappeared. The police were on the lookout for Speak during Monday night and yesterday gave out the information that the man rode out of the city on the pilot of a Big Four engine, while they were searching through the train for him.

Mrs. McLaughlin was sent to St. Louis yesterday by Supervisor Eibe, and the St. Louis police were notified to arrest Speak.

INQUEST IN POORHOUSE CASE. Coroner's Jury Says McGovern

Killed Moeller.

Killed Moeiller.

Deputy Coroner Fitzsimmens conducted an inquest yesterday on the body of George Moeiller, an immate of the City Poorhouse, who was beaten to death by Patrick McGovern, an insane inmate, Sunday morning. The jury found that Moeiler came to his death at the hands of McGovern, who is mentally irresponsible.

McGovern was formerly a patient at the City Insane Asylim, but when that institution became crowded was transferred to the Poorhouse. Sunday morning he became involved in a quarrel with Moeiler in the lathroom. Before the attendants arrived McGovern knocked the old man down and kicked him. Fred Jenner, the chief guard, and Attendants Otto Greiner and Frank Slater stopped the fight. They took Moeiler to his cell and locked McGovern up. Jenner said he dressed Moeiler's wounds himself, as was the custom when a man was only slightly injured.

When they went to call Moeller for din-ner three-quarters of an hour later they found him dead. A post-mortem examina-tion showed that every rib was broken and punched through his lunga, that his abdo-men was blue from bruises; that the back of his head was badly cut, and the scalp saturated with blood, and that there was a slight abrasion over the right eye. Jenner said the only injury he saw was over the
